BACKGROUND

Human rights are essential to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

Paragraph 67 of Agenda 2030 calls on “all businesses to apply their creativity and innovation to solving sustainable development challenges” and for States to “foster a dynamic and well-functioning business sector, while protecting labour rights and environmental and health standards in accordance with relevant international standards and agreements and other ongoing initiatives in this regard, such as the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights.”

This workshop aims to help participants gain a thorough understanding of the Business and Human Rights agenda and provide leadership perspectives on the potential and challenges to implement the UN Guiding Principles as an essential means to realize the Agenda 2030.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the end of this training workshop, students should be able to:

- Present the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights as an essential means to meet the SDGs;
- Assess the State duty to protect human rights and its impact for business enterprises (Pillar 1 of the UN Guiding Principles);
- Assess the corporate responsibility to respect human rights, its nature and scope and how it can be operationalized e.g. human rights due diligence (Pillar 2 of the UN Guiding Principles);
- Highlight the respective roles of the States and business to ensure access by victims to effective remedy (Pillar 3 of the UN Guiding Principles).

CONTENT AND STRUCTURE

The course consists of the following sessions:

- Session 1: Training Workshop on the linkage between Business and Human Rights and Agenda 2030
- Session 2: Panel on the potential and challenges to implement the UN Guiding Principles as an essential means to realize the Agenda 2030. The panellists are:
  - Ms. Anne Kullman, Senior Advisor Business & Human Rights, Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (Sida)
  - Ms. Lene Wendland, Chief, Business and Human Rights Development and Social and Economic Issues Branch Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR)
  - Mr. Crispin Conroy, Permanent Observer of the International Chamber of Commerce to the United Nations at Geneva, and ICC Representative Director (Geneva).
  - Mr. Matthias Thorns, Deputy Secretary-General at International Organisation of Employers (IOE)
